Property Description

The owner is fond of cooking and entertaining, and the well equipped kitchen and large front deck are accommodating to both. The kitchen has an oversized professional gas-stove (with a double propane tanks) with a powerful hood to avoid any smells in the rest of the house. Materials and appliances used are first class, and include teak cabinets and doors and granite countertops. The kitchen opens up to the dining area, which offers great views of the ocean and, through a very large window, of the mountains as well. However, the large balcony overlooking the beach below is where one would likely spend most of the time. The cool ocean breezes, the great view and the sounds of the waves below make it a very comfortable and relaxing place to hang out. The house offers 2 identical master suites with full baths and 2 additional bedrooms sharing a full bath. The master suites open up to the large balcony through large sliding glass doors.
