Property Description

Just reduced, motivated seller! This beautiful large lot has pasture land and forest with a fair amount of room to have a little farm. The property has partial ocean views, mountain views, and jungle views. With a two-story home, you could really take advantage of the views. It is located in a hillside community named Las Brisas which is very private at the moment. To get here you drive 15 minutes on a dirt road off the highway in Ojochal. Ojochal is sought after a small town known for having some of the best restaurants in Costa Rica. There are also some really nice beaches close by. This lot can be sold as a package including a nearby lot that has partial ocean views just up the road. The seller is very motivated and willing to consider partial owner financing.
